THE HUNTING PACE EVENT—ANOTHER VERSION

Something over five years ago your Editor, casting about for a competitive event for foxhunters, came up with an idea which, in due course, was initiated by the Blue Ridge Hunt on March 13, 1954 and called the Hunter Pace Event. This was to test, not horses but riders, more specifically their judgment as to what constitutes a fair hunting pace. To this end they were dispatched in pairs at five minute intervals over a 6½ mile flagged course, with two checks of three minutes each, which included a fair sample of the terrain and obstacles typical of this particular hunting country. The winners were the pair whose time for the course most closely approached the average time of all the contestants, computed after subtracting any times which were excessively fast or slow. That hunting pace is not just a theory, but actually is something that experienced foxhunters carry in the back of their head, was demonstrated by the fact that the times of the first five pairs were within a minute of the average and the times of every one of the first twelve pairs showed variations from the average of less than ten percent.

Since then the Hunter Pace Event has received the flattery of imitation in many different sections of the country. It appeals for several reasons. Since it is the judgment of the rider which is tested, the average hunter is just as suitable a mount as the finest show horse. The course is long enough to slow down the pace, while the breather afforded by the two checks removes the necessity for more than average fitness. Riding in pairs makes for good company and safety; the wide loop of the course removes the strain of having to ride before a crowd of spectators. Picking the winners on a time basis only, not only eliminates arguments over the correctness of judges' decisions, but also all the rules which have to do with rapping fences, refusals, falls, etc.—rules which have very little to do with who is on hand at the finish of a good hunt. In consequence in these Events we find riding, year after year, dyed-in-the-wool foxhunters who wouldn't be caught dead in any other kind of competition.

Other hunts holding the Event have adhered closely to the original conditions, except that some have arrived at the time standard by having one or more experienced foxhunters ride the course in advance. When the length of the course has been accurately measured with a wheel and kept secret, a further refinement has been to instruct the contestants to ride at, say, 450 yards per minute, as in the Cross Country Phase of the Three Day Event.

THE CHRONICLE

The Blue Ridge Hunt has now come up with another version. The new conditions read: "For the sake of variety and in order to save the time, material and expense involved in flagging a course, this year's Event will combine the former conditions with the conditions of an old fashioned point-to-point, putting a premium on knowledge of the country. Contestants on assembling will be paired off so that any novice rider will have as partner an experienced rider, familiar with the country. The pairs will be required to ride at a fair hunting pace to two check points (to be announced at the time of starting) and return, taking their own line. Besides the prize for the pair whose time is nearest to the average, there will be a prize for the pair which takes the line most closely approaching that taken by the Master, who will ride last." It is assumed, of course, that the line taken by the Master will be the best possible line.

It will be fun to see how this new version works out.

Letters..... Corrected Breeding

Dear Sir:

In the article on the Pan American Three-Day Event it is stated that the black 6-year-old Markham, ridden by M. Plumb, is by Bois de Rose. Having bred and raised this horse, I would like to correct his error for the record. Markham is by Psychic out of a H.B. mare by *Bois de Rose.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Sir:

If you will add the points in your September 11th issue you will find Farnley Liberty Belle should have been tied pony champion at the Woodstock Show in Vermont. Would you please correct this mistake in your next issue. Points won by Snow Drift, 13. Points won by Farnley Liberty Belle, owned and ridden by Brooke Giddings, 13.

Death of a Salesman

Raleigh Burroughs

Many years ago, a merchandising master mind discovered that movie patrons would pay to see the most miserable show, if given a chance to win a set of dishes.

Before long, everybody had a set of dishes, and the films weren't getting any better; so the proprietors of the picture parlors had to think of something more appealing than china.

They thought of it - money; and Bank Night was born.

For awhile, Grant Withers, Anita Page and Patsy Ruth Miller were chased off the marquee by dollar marks and digits. Instead of asking, "What's showing?" people inquired, "What gives?"

Every inducement (except good pictures) was offered. Building lots, groceries, all-expenses-paid trips and money were given away.

Properties were improved, too, to give the paying customer a bit more for the extra money he had to pay for the added conveniences. Picture parlors became cinema palaces. Luxurious air-conditioned retiring salons replaced the attendant with spray.

Everything was better, but the lagniappe was here to stay.

Actually, the movie exhibitors didn't originate it; clothiers had been giving away "Louisville Sluggers" with kids' suits 20 years earlier. The picture people popularized it, though.

In times of depression, nearly all businesses have tried to kid clients into believing that they're being given something for nothing.

These little inducements become the salesmen for a product or service that doesn't sell itself.

Racing has made use of many of them. The first introduced was the daily double. Some of the track heads turned up their noses at this shabby salesman, declaring that it made a "number game" out of the sport.

When horse-park managers became convinced that there was more money handled with the double than without it, they rehired the customer-getter.

While experienced racing fans may like to see form hold up, few new devotees are attracted to the sport by a report that even-money favorites swept the card. Big numbers are the things that make new horse-players.

The heart is not inspired, nor is the imagination stirred by figures like $4.20 and $5.60.

A daily double that returns $1,382.80 for $2 can make anybody's imagination do tricks.

No sports-page reader ever looked at a $3.20 mutual and murmured, "Boy, I could use that!"

A number like $1,382.80 is different. It has standing in the community - any community.

So the daily double became a part of the life of every Thoroughbred lover.

Many other steps have been taken to improve the standard of living of the horse-player. Every track in the country has added comforts and conveniences, some have rebuilt and new ones have been created.

Great horses and big races probably are the Turf's best salesmen, but merchandising experts never stop looking for others.

Such innovations as ladies' days, free days and giveaway days (and nights) have increased the attendance if not the popularity of racing.

On giveaway days, the prizes run from hams to Hillman Minxes.

Presents do not make true converts. Seven pounds of smoked swine and $1,600 foreign cars don't sell racing. All gratuities do is make people cry for more. Soon the clients will be demanding prime beef and American-made cars.

Daily doubles DO make racing enthusiasts out of casual visitors because they make people think. It requires no concentration to accept a handout of a ham, but picking two horses presents the need for decision, even if it means only deciding between the selector's age and the day of the month.

Crowd Pleaser

The greatest crowd pleaser since Donerail won the Derby is a device known variously as the 5-10, "Cinco y Seis", the Daily Double Quintet and Pic Six. The player tries to pick six straight winners, and the one who comes nearest gets the pool. In cases of tie, the pool is split.

This thing has sold racing to investors who would not show the slightest interest in a favorite, and would flash only a casual glance in the direction of a fat daily double payoff.

The "Cinco y Seis" was popular in Venezuela as long as five years ago. The game sold itself and it sold horseracing, because some of the payoffs soared up into hundreds of thousands.

Nobody can brush past that kind of money without feelings of emotion and deep affection. It could be love at first sight with a game that offers such rewards.

Mr. Johnny Alessio, who runs Caliente and doesn't miss many bets, heard what a wonderful selling job "Cinco y Seis" was doing in the neighborhood of Caracas, and put the same salesman to work in Mexico.

Anything that offers a fortune for a couple of dollars is certain to enjoy popularity. Not only do the fans love it, but the newspapers never get tired of reporting that "Manuel Casablanca won $32,560 in the 5-10 at Caliente on Sunday."

Papers show photos of the smiling Manuel and, often as not, if the payoff is a scorcher, the news services or even "Life" may print the winner's picture.

This is publicity; the 5-10 is doing a remarkable selling job for the track. Even astute handicappers concede that a factor of luck enters when a man picks six for six. A lady who won $267,500 playing the game at Caracas just picked pretty names and offered up a prayer.

You don't even need a Racing Form for that kind of selection - just hope.

The 5-10 was tried at Hawthorne recently and the payoffs received more prominence in the news than stakes win-

Rose Tree Hunt Races

Chris Wood, Jr.

Undaunted by civil or world wars, the Rose Tree Fox Hunting Club held its 100th consecutive fall race meeting on the club grounds near Media, Pa., on Saturday, October 17. The centennial session was favored with perfect weather and a crowd of nearly 5,000 filled the grandstand and jammed the rails around the famous dumb-bell-shaped course.

The centennial celebration will long be remembered by trainer Morris H. Dixon and jockey Edwin Deveau as the day they registered a 1,000 average for their particular efforts. Participating in 4 of the 6 races on the program, the pair visited the winner's circle on each occasion. Their talent also brought about a double for owners. Mrs. William Coxe Wright and Thaddeus R. Trout.

Lucky Count Wins

The initial triumph in the skein was registered in the W. Plunket Stewart Memorial Challenge Cup, a 2-mile brush race for non-winners over brush. Meeting a trio of older contenders, Mrs. William Coxe Wright's Lucky Count, a 3-year-old gelding, led for most of the journey over 12 brush fences to defeat George T. Weymouth's Mystical Gem by 1 1/2 lengths. Running next to the leader over the early fences, the Barclay Stable's *Ballybrittas tired to finish 3rd and last. The small field was further diminished when Miss Mary A. Rumsey's Watermount fell over the 11th jump while trailing. Jockey James Wyatt was removed to Media for examination.

A winner over hurdles at Aqueduct, the sophomore made his first start over brush a successful one in 3:38 over firm turf. His popular owner is currently traveling in Europe, so the trophy presentations were handled by trainer Dixon.

Riddle Cup

Inactive during the timber race, the Dixon-Deveau combination returned to action in the Riddle Cup, a 1-mile turf test. Taking command soon after the break, Deveau guided Mrs. Wright's *Ben Arthur to a 1/2-length victory over Mrs. Edward H. Carle's Cumberland Gap. Coming from 4th in the field of 7 competitors, the latter closed well under G. R. Gilpin to make the rider from Newtown Square, Pa., work hard for his 2nd straight triumph. Running an even race, Alfred H. Smith's Freshal was 3rd, 3 lengths behind the embattled pair. Making his first start since breaking his maiden over hurdles at Fair Hill, Md., *Ben Arthur was timed in 1:49 2/5.

The double for Thaddeus R. Trout

started in the Foxcatcher Plate, a 2-mile steeplechase handicap which lured only a quartet of starters. Coupled with C. Mahlon Kline's Gridiron as the Dixon-trained entry, *Chicago 2nd closed rapidly in the uphill stretch run to defeat his stable-mate by 1 1/2 lengths. A winner of five races and currently leading the brush division for the major share of the United Hunts Racing Associations' $2,200 award, Gridiron led for most of the journey, with the Tremont Farms' *Follies Bergere in close attendance. The latter tired in the final stages and over the 12th and final jump was replaced by the eventual winner. As *Chicago 2nd and Gridiron battled it out in the stretch drive, *Follies Bergere dropped further back, permitting W. Burling Cocks' Bank Roll to annex 3rd money. In chalking up his 2nd triumph of the season over brush, the Irish import was timed in 3:37.

Recently obtained by the Devon, Pa., owner, *Lionhearted completed the double by easily turning back a trio of contenders in the Autumn Stayers Plate, a 1 1/2 mile route over the turf. Running 2nd to Granny's Will, owned by R. W. Trapnell III, *Lionhearted showed in front by a neck as the small field reached the stretch. Responding to Deveau, the 3-year-old gelding by Big Game-Appledore moved away from the field to win by 5 lengths Mrs. Robert Curley's Contrary Jane,

Washington International

Anne Christmas

The United States Equestrian Team could not have picked a better place than the Washington International Horse Show to be in top form. Audiences from the Capital and its surrounding area were a fertile field for supporters, present and future, of America's civilian representatives in international competitions - and all hands were delighted and thrilled by their domination of the jumping events.

Leading the U. S. quartet was Hugh Wiley, the quiet and likeable horseman from Towson, Md., whose two mounts, Nautical and Master William, won four international classes within a three-day span, including one in each of the two Sunday performances of the show.

During the show's six-day run at the National Guard Armory, other U. S. E. T. members, too, scored popular victories. Frank Chapot was the hero of opening night with Tally Ho, on which he turned back Brazil's Maj. Renildo Ferreira on Marengo and Argentina's Lt. Carolos Marchelli on Mitai. Bill Steinkraus turned the trick for America's hopes in the all-important competition for one rider competing with 2 horses for best aggregate score, riding Ksar D'Esprit and Trail Guide.

With only two fair-sized crowds (estimated at around 4,000 each) out of the entire week of the show, there were criticisms around the ringside of some of its facets. Many voiced the opinion that admissions were too high. Members of visiting teams - the United States, Argentina, Brazil, Mexico and Canada - suggested that the international courses could be made higher and more difficult, from the viewpoints of both spectators and competitors. If the show was short on onlookers, there certainly could be no complaints about the numbers of entries in the hunter, jumper and junior divisions. The Arabians, too, put on a good show with well-filled classes, but there were very few saddle horses on hand.

Templeton Stables' Cameda was the conformation champion for his New York owner, Mrs. Winston Guest. Virginia also could claim the title-winner, as he is trained and shown by Bobby Burke of Middleburg. Cameda served notice on opening day by taking the model, and went on to win 14 1/2 points. Spanish Mint, owned by Mrs. J. Deane Rucker of Grosse Point, Mich., was the reserve winner with 8, after tying with another Michigan entry, Mr. and Mrs. Fred A.

Wilson's Dragnet.

Easily the busiest horse at the Armory was Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Egan's Blue Monday, the 1958 green working champion at the show. This time he piled up 10 points to win the same title again, plus another 10 among the working hunters for the reserve ribbon there behind Saxon Woods Farm's Naute Mia, with 12. Naute Mia, ridden as usual by Gordon Wright, also was the working champion in '58.

Although the far-famed young jumper, Windsor Castle, had acquired a new home since his championship at the Washington International in 1958, he did not change his jumping ability. Now owned by the Chicago combination, Marzano & Jayne, Windsor Castle carried Dorothy McLeod to the jumper tri-color the hard way; he tied with the English import, Warren Wofford's Pat's Sister, at 13 each and then had to win a jump-off over the stake course.

Windsor Castle, whose $25,000 sales price earlier this season already is a show ring legend, was owned by Carl Miller, Jr., when he dazzled the Washington International audience last year with the jumper crown as a 6-year-old.

There was the usual interest in junior events, and again a '58 champion was outstanding as Betty Reynolds of Tryon, N.C. was the rider of both the junior title-winner and the reserve. Betty, now in her last year among the juniors, rode Converse College's Colonymas and Anne Lat-

Steeplechasing at Aqueduct

John E. Cooper

Reminiscent of the form he displayed in 1958 and 1957, Ancestor led through-out the two and a half mile Brook Steeplechase Handicap to score by a length and a half carrying top weight of 162 lbs. The way the ten-year-old met his fences not only dwarfed the efforts of his younger rivals, but even caused experienced observers to gasp. Although he made all the pace, it was hardly a onesided contest, in fact was one of the more interesting 'chases of the year.

The race lost some interest however, when trainer Oleg Dubassoff scratched John Schiff's good jumper, *Muguet 2nd, several hours before post time, but six others were left to argue the $17,500 added purse with Ancestor including Benguala (156 lbs.) Fairfax (152lbs.) Basil Bee (146 lbs.) *Darubini (140 lbs.) Sun Dog (137 lbs.) and the bottom weight, Easy Timer at 130 lbs. For the first lap of the course, Benguala, *Darubini and Fairfax ran closest to the pace, but with the exception of Sun Dog which trailed for almost two miles, the field ran more closely bunched than is ordinarily the case in the long steeplechase. In fact this compactness caused the only fall of the race, when *Darubini swerved going to the seventh jump and "blinded" Easy Timer causing that one to lose Murt Hoey. Out in front Ancestor with Paddy Smithwick set a moderate pace, but with the fences fairly close together, it would have taken a foolhardy rider to send his mount up to jump with Ancestor. Where the ordinary horse would still put in another stride, Ancestor took off like a winged Pegasus and landed running. Rounding into the far side the third and last time, John Cotter on Sun Dog started a move which carried him from last place to a contending position with the other four challengers. Going down the far side, a swelling roar came from the stands as any of the five behind Ancestor appeared equal to a successful challenge, but Smithwick asked for a little bit and the Challedon-Bloodroot gelding lengthened his stride just enough to keep a little more than daylight in front of his rivals. Around the final turn, Benguala and Basil Bee appeared strongest, but on the outside, as the field warped into the front side straightaway, Sun Dog and Fairfax ranged up on equal terms in pursuit of the pacemaker. Ancestor cleared the last jump by almost three lengths, with the others less than a length apart behind him. In the run in on the flat Sun Dog responded better and was narrowing the gap, but he crossed under the wire a length and a half behind Mrs. Ogden Phipps' color-bearer, and another length and a half to the fore of Fairfax, which necked Benguala for third money. *Darubini was another length away for fifth, while Basil Bee faded in the stretch run to be sixth several more lengths back.

The time of 4:47 3/5 automatically became a course record in view of this being the first race at the distance at new Aqueduct, but considering the distance, which is almost exact, plus the fact that aluminum railing was used to dog out the turns to the extent of fifteen feet, the race stood as a fast one.

The Brook represented Ancestor's second win of the season, his previous score being in the two mile Broad Hollow, but in contrast to that race, which he just won by a nose, the Brook was undoubtedly his best performance of the year to date.

Due to the newness of the turf, wet weather which caused two cancellations during the week, and the Columbus Day holiday, the Brook was the only jumping race during the fifth week of the meeting.

Elkridge Stakes

In the week which preceded it, three-year-old hurdlers held the spotlight in the $15,000 added Elkridge Stakes which drew eight starters and developed into a tight contest all the way, and a mild upset at the end. Virginia's Mrs. Theo Randolph was the winning owner with her homebred, Black Andy drawing out in the last furlong to score by two and a half lengths at the direct expense of the favored Vendetta owned by Mrs. Walter Wickes, Jr. Mrs. Ogden Phipps' Management, a stablemate of the winner was third with F. Eugene Dixon's Air Delight fourth after an untimely bobble at the seventh hurdle.

The mile and seven furlong distance over hurdles begins midway through the front side, and from that point around the clubhouse turn and down the back side, it was Mrs. W. C. Wright's Lucky Count which showed the way. In a race which saw all eight contestants in close competition most of the way, and which resulted in considerable crowding, Brannagh and Vendetta ran closest to the pace for the first half mile. It was while vying for the lead that the former bobbled the fourth hurdle at the bottom of the far side. At this juncture, Paddy Smithwick moved Management into command, a position he held until overtaken by the eventual winner after jumping the final hurdle. Meanwhile, most of the field continued in close competition. Going down the far side the second and last time, Management held more than a daylight lead. Vendetta with Bob McDonald raced closest to him, with Joe Aitcheson on Black Andy a formidable third. Air Delight, a standout in his age division earlier in the season, was ridden by Evan Jackson, and was making a strong move rounding into the far side when a bobble all but unseated Jackson and probably cost the Dixon jumper whatever chance he had. Management continued to show the way around the last turn and over the last hurdle, but Aitcheson on Black Andy had steadily moved closer in the last half mile, and when the leader swerved over the final hurdle, the T. A. Randolph gelding moved to the front with authority in the run in on the flat and won with something in reserve. Vendetta was easily second best after Management gave way in the final sixteenth.

The Elkridge, named for Kent Miller's champion fencer of a decade ago, was Black Andy's second win in three efforts over hurdles, and netted his owner $10,640. He carried 135 lbs., by the conditions of the race, in contrast to 145 lbs. for each of the three which followed him across the line, all of these having won two or more hurdle races preceding the Elkridge. Black Andy chalked up a 3:24 2/5 for the distance, and only 2/5 slower than the track record set by Beau Shah earlier in the meeting when the railing on the turn permitted a shorter run.

Attesting to the popularity of races for three-year-olds over hurdles, the day before the Elkridge, nine maiden juveniles went postward at a mile and five eighths. The winner, N. P. Bates' Lord Mike, by Lord Putnam from the Mahmoud mare, Lip Rouge, won by a comfortable 20 lengths under Tommy Walsh. His stablemate, Mrs. L. W. Knapp, Jr.'s Nautilus helped to strengthen the place pool payoff by coming in second about two and a half lengths to the fore of CagI. Helfer was a distant fourth, while most of the others were "up the track", but such is the stuff out of which maiden races are made.

Arthur Norden, who makes his bread and butter money as head of the Seaboard and Western Air Lines, took a day off on Monday October 5th to watch his Prince Nam earn a few dollars (twenty four hundred and seventy of them) toward hay, oats and carrots. With the

*AMERIGO'S DAM

Sanlinea, the dam of the recent New York Handicap winner, *Amerigo, was purchased a year ago by Pat O'Neill of Lexington for Mrs. Parker Poe of the Shawnee Farm. The mare, now in Ireland, has a colt foal by Never Say Die and is in foal to Mossborough. This year O'Neill bought for Mrs. Poe the broodmare Angelet by Nimbus, who has at foot a filly foal by Suany Boy and is also bred back to that horse. She goes in 1960 to Alycidon.

AMERICAN MARES TO IRELAND

Pat O'Neill, who for many years has been identified with Thoroughbreds in the Lexington, Ky. area, has recently received commissions to buy several American mares for shipment to his native land as an outcross for Irish sires.

VIRGINIA

STUBBLEFIELD SHIPMENT

Mrs. George P. Greenhalgh, Sr. of Stubblefield, near Berryville, Va., who has been visiting various racing and breeding centers abroad, is shipping to this country a grey filly by Palestine which she bred out of Pin Up Girl (by Coup de Lyon). Unfortunately, Pin Up Girl died last spring while foaling twins. The filly will be raced in this country and eventually retired to the Stubblefield broodmare band. Also being sent over is a weanling chestnut colt by *Tudor Minstrel out of the stakes winner Northern Gleam, by Borealis. Completing the shipment is the recently purchased Matelda, foaled in 1947 by Dante out of Fairly Hot, by Solario. Matelda, of course, is the dam of Tudor Melody, top two-year-old of 1958.

PENNSYLVANIA

ODELL MARES

David Dallas Odell of Skirmish Hill Farm, West Chester, Pa., is selling at the Keeneland Fall Sales on Monday, October 26th, two imported mares of considerably more than average interest. *Emmahmoud is a chestnut foaled in 1955 by Ballyogan, paternal grandsire of the crack two-year-old U. S. stakes winners of 1959, Bally Ache. *Emmahmoud won nearly two and a half million francs in

Joe Aitcheson up on Mrs. A. C. Randolph's homebred BLACK ANDY, winner of the $15,000 added ElkrIDGE Hurdle race, at Aqueduct. The winner is a 3-year-old dark brown gelding by Black Gang, a War Admiral horse, out of the Andy K. mare Skerandy. Mrs. Randolph, M.F.H. of the Piedmont Fox Hounds, is shown looking over her winner after the race. (Bert & Richard Morgan Photo)

France including the Prix Poetess Handicap and was second in the Prix d'Astarte and the Prix de Pompadour Handicap. The second mare is *La Roque by Prince Bio, currently one of the great sires of the world, his offspring including Sicambre, winner of the French Derby and Grand Prix de Paris, Le Petit Prince, Northern Light, etc. He is of course from the same sire line as *Princequillo, leading U. S. stallion. *La Roque won the Prix Codoman at 3 in France. She is a half-sister to Loire, winner of the Austrian Oaks, and to Dumnacus, winner of the Grand Prix de Bordeaux.

*Emmahmoud is in foal to *Nasrullah's son Never Say Die, winner of the Epsom Derby and the Doncaster St. Leger, while *La Roque is in foal to *Rolling Rock by *Nasrullah out of a half-sister to the Epsom Derby winner Straight Deal.

GLADE VALLEY REORGANIZATION

Glade Valley Farm, producer of the famous Gallorette, Challedon, Escadru and many other stakes winners during the past decade, will continue to operate as a Thoroughbred nursery announces Colonel H. B. Marcus, former sole owner.

The farm will incorporate commencing January 1st, 1960 with Dr. R. A. Leonard as resident manager and one-third owner of the newly formed corporation. Dr. Leonard is currently employed as the track veterinarian by the Maryland State Racing Commission.

Prior to his appointment by the Commission Dr. Leonard was for several years manager-veterinarian for the Harford Stud Farms owned by Larry McPhail.

Presently standing at Glade Valley Farms are Alerted (The Iron Horse), winner of 20 races and $440,000, The Pincher, good stakes winner of $109,000, and Speedy d'Arca, the classically bred son of *Niccolo Del Arca.

Mr. Jack Bender, President of the Blake Construction Company of Washington, D. C. is the third and equal participant with Dr. Leonard and Colonel Marcus.

FROM ABROAD

*STEPHANOTIS RETURNS TO IRELAND

*Stephanotis (Stardust-Shello, by *Donatello II), who was raced in this country by Mr. and Mrs. Allie Reuben's Hasty House Farms, Toledo, Ohio, is being reimported to Ireland by Robert Griffin, the well-known veterinarian who was retained by the Aly Khan to examine Saint Crespin, winner of the Arc de Triomphe, immediately before the race.

News From The Studs

MRS. HANES' PETTICOAT RULE

After an impressive victory at the end of June, Mrs. John W. Hanes' most attractive filly Petticoat Rule dug her toes in and refused to start on her next appearance.

There was little likelihood of a recurrence when she came out next for the Hopeful Stakes of five furlongs at Newmarket, for she had only one opponent. With odds of 100-7 laid on her, Petticoat Rule cantered home to win unchallenged by eight lengths.

Bred by her owner in the U.S.A., she is by *Nasrullah out of Pellisse, who has also bred for Mrs. Hanes the three year old colt of the present season Welsh Guard, winner of the Jersey Stakes at the Royal Meeting at Ascot. P.T.-C.

HERBAGER RETIRED

Madame Cino del Duca's Herbager, leading French 3-year-old, who won the French Derby and the Grand Prix de Saint Cloud plus his three other starts this year, and who pulled up lame in the Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe after having started as an odds-on favorite, is being retired to stud.

ONE FOR WHITNEY

Ambassador J. H. Whitney was at Ascot to see his two year Moneymaker win the Tankerville Nursery Handicap at odds of 12 1/2-1. In a field of ten Moneymaker carried bottom weight of 100 lbs., for in his three previous races he had attained only one third.

In a most exciting finish, Beau Ideal, Moneymaker and San Siro were all level a hundred yards from the post and it looked as if the Whitney colt might get squeezed out. But keeping a cool head young Singer drove him through in the final strides to win by a neck.

A member of the first crop of the St. Leger winner Premonition, Moneymaker is out of the Lighthouse mare L-s-d (English abbreviations for pounds, shillings and pence) and was bought at the October Sales for 3,000 guineas. P.T.-C.

AL MABSOOT

The Jockey Club of Sao Paulo has announced the importation from France of the notable international performer Al Mabsoot (by Mat De Cocagne out of Rose O'Lynn by Pherozshah), who will take up stud duties at the Sao Paulo Stallions' Station, joining there such other stallions as the French derby winner Coaraze (by Tourbillon), the Brazilian Triple Crown winner Timao (by Swallow Tail), and the Alycidon horse Lucidon.

THE CHRONICLE

Chronicle Cover

The original of this sketch was painted in oil and is owned by Prince Aly Khan, at whose farm in Ireland Palestine stands.

Palestine (Fair Trial-Una by Tetra-tema) raced for The Aga Khan who also bred him. He won 6 top 2-year-old stakes, including the Gimcrack and Champagne, by from 4 to 8 lengths. At 3, he won the Red Rose Stakes (6 furlongs); Henry VIII Stakes (7 furlongs); the Sussex Stakes (1 ml.); the St. James Palace Stakes (1 mi.) and the 2000 Guineas - and was defeated in only one race.

Retired to stud in 1951, at the age of four, Palestine has winners of major stakes from all of his racing crops in England and France, among whom is Pall Mall, the Queen's great colt who was top 2-year-old in England in 1957.

MCCARTHY WINS IN ENGLAND

Neil McCarthy of California, who normally keeps a horse or two in Ireland with Paddy Prendergast, won the Westley Stakes at Newmarket when his bay colt Tuberara, a short-priced favorite, just got home by a short-head from Fridolanna - the race caller coping in exemplary fashion with the two names as they came home together four lengths clear of the rest.

Bought for 3200 guineas as a yearling, Tuberara had previously run only once when unplaced in Ireland. A bay by *Arctic Prince, he is out of the winning White River, a half-sister to the Irish One Thousand Guineas winner Even Star and three other good winners, his third dam being the famous Moonstone.

At the time of the sale he was named Ngobit, so no wonder it was changed! P.T.-C.

BRAZILIAN STUD BOOK

The eighth volume of the Brazilian Stud-Book has now been published in Rio de Janeiro. It covers breeding in all Brazil in the years 1952 to 1955 inclusive. 4683 broodmares are registered in its 1900 pages which also contain the usual reference and statistical chapters. As far as the number of broodmares is concerned, Brazil now ranks sixth among the largest breeding countries only preceded by England, France, United States, Argentina and the Australian countries.

WOLFSON BUYS *PETERMAN

Latest horse to be sold from England is the three year old *Peterman, an eight lengths winner in May of the Grosvenor Stakes at Chester and at one time fancied for the Derby.

A stable companion of the St. Leger winner Cantelo, he is by Blue Peter out of Marie Elizabeth, by Mazarin, who has bred one other winner. Louis Wolfson of New York and Miami, who races in the name of Harbor View Stable, bought him from Mrs. H. Leggat through the Irish Bloodstock Agency. P.T.-C.

MIDNIGHT SUN IN INTERNATIONAL

Francois Dupre's Midnight Sun (Sunny Boy-Clair), who deadheaded with Prince Aly Khan's Saint Crespian III in the Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe, only to be placed second on a claim of foul, has accepted an invitation to run in the Washington D. C. International at Laurel on November 11th. His trainer, Francois Mathet, has announced that the 3-year-old will leave France a week before the race.

NINE FURLONG TRACKS

When the meeting at the Laurel Race Course opens on October 28th, it will be using for the first time its brand new grass and dirt tracks, work on which was begun immediately after last fall's Washington D. C. International Race. Thus Laurel joins Aqueduct, Arlington Park, Atlantic City, Hialeah, Saratoga and Washington Park as the only nine furlong tracks in America.

U. S. HORSES AT LAUREL

Bald Eagle has joined Round Table today as the United States representative in the $100,000 Washington D. C. International at Laurel Race Course on November 11.

The four-year-old colt, owned by the Cain Hoy Stable of Harry F. Guggenheim, was invited to the eighth invitational mile and a half, scale weight grass classic by the American Selection Board and the telegram of acceptance was received today from Guggenheim. It read: "Accept with pleasure your invitation for Bald Eagle to represent the United States in the Washington D. C. International on November 11."

Early last month, Travis M. Kerr, Round Table's owner, advised the board that the Laurel International was included on the fall schedule for the "1958 Horse of the Year" and, if things went as planned, the global classic would be the last race for the world's leading money winning horse before he was retired to stud in 1960.

AUDLEY SELLS FIVE

James F. Edwards of the Audley Farm, Berryville, Va., has recently sold five horses in training to Michael Julian of Youngstown, Ohio. The string is to be known as the Claire-Tee Stable and is conditioned by R. Brian Murray. The horses in the transaction included Light Dan, One Putt, Buckles n' Bows, Lady Rippey and Willy Nully.

NANCE'S LAD TO RACE AGAIN

Nance's Lad, a 7-year-old stallion by Slide Rule out of Nance's Ace, who in 1955 and 1956 was a stakes winner of 13 races and $169,200, is to be returned to training after two years at stud at A. B. Hancock's Claiborne Farm, Paris, Ky. He will be conditioned by Rabbit Dabson and will take up his career again in Florida. A broken bone in his left foreleg forced his retirement. Because of an injury at stud he has sired only two foals.

NATIONAL LEADERS

The five leading owners in amount of money won from January 1st through September 30th are as follows: Brookmeade Stable (Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane), $580,802; C. V. Whitney, $574,031; Kerr Stable (Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Kerr, Mrs. Nancy Magano), $543,935; C. W. Smith Enterprises, Inc., $528,015; and Cain Hoy Stable (Harry F. Guggenheim), $519,104. The five leading horses in amount of money won are as follows: Hillsdale (C. W. Smith Enterprises, Inc.), $502,090; Sword Dancer (Brookmeade Stable), $466,214; Round Table, (Kerr Stable), $354,030; Vertex (J. J. Brunetti & F. A. Piarulli), $246,029; and Dunce, (Claiborne Farm), $231,510.

KERR BUYS 69 YEARLINGS

Well-known bloodstock agent, Bert Kerr, at the recent Irish yearling sales, bought 69 yearlings out of the 424 sold. Recovering from an illness in the hospital, he left his bed daily to go to the sales, returning immediately thereafter.

PISTORIO DISPERSING

Samuel M. Pistorio, for 18 years one of Maryland's most prominent owners and breeders, will disperse his Thoroughbred holdings, consisting of 49 head, at the Maryland Fall Sales.

LAUREL INTERNATIONAL

For the 1959 Washington International, Mr. Schapiro et al have made a most solid selection in the U. S. horses they have invited to represent us. Those invited are the wonderful Round Table, Sword Dancer, and Hillsdale. I can't see how they could have made three better selections.

Now all we who will watch the race have to do is hope fervently that at least two of them will accept. I doubt if Hillsdale will show up because the mile and a half of the International may be a little long for him. But as for Round Table, the International ought to be just his dish of tea. He has only lost twice in his life on grass, and at weight-for-age, he ought to feel as if he is on a vacation from those pianos and refrigerators the handicappers have been putting on his back.

Wouldn't that be a fitting race for Round Table to tuck away in his record book as he nears the end of his racing career!

R. J. Clark

PENNSYLVANIA PARI-MUTUELS

Although it was almost identical in content to a harness racing measure previously passed, the Pennsylvania's House of Representatives recently defeated by a vote of 95 to 86 a bill to permit pari-mutuel betting on horse races in the state, subject to countywide local option. The vote was 20 short of the 106 needed for passage.

ILLINOIS BREEDERS MERGE

The Illinois Thoroughbred Breeders Association and the Prairie State Breeders Association have merged, the combined organization to be known henceforth as the Illinois Breeders Association.

HISTORIC LADIES' RACE

Despite the British General Election, which caused the cancellation that day of all other racing, the historic Town Plate was run over four miles at Newmarket in accordance with the instructions of King Charles II that it should be run "on the second Thursday in October, for ever".

Lady riders now monopolize the event every year and in a field of 24 a close finish was fought out between the daughters of two prominent Newmarket trainers before seventeen year old Julia Murless just got up in the final strides to beat 21 year old Susan Armstrong. In the unofficial betting, the winner Adam's Walk was offered at 7-1.

Julia is the daughter of Noel Murless, who this year has established a new training record by winning more than 132,000 pounds for his patrons, and the figure is sure to be increased before the end of the year. P.T.C.

FILLIES WIN SIX ST. LEGERs

Writing in "The Blood-Horse", Jean Romanet points out that no less than six European St. Legers were this year won by fillies - the English (Cantelo), Irish (Barclay), French (Vamour), Italian (Feria), Belgian (Domitilla), and German (Ordinate).

ROSALBA WINS QUEEN ELIZABETH

After a terrific struggle over the last furlong with the Aly Khan's Sallymount, the gallant filly Rosalba won by a head the valuable Queen Elizabeth II Stakes at Ascot, worth 5,356 pounds.

In a field of six, Sallymount tried to make all the running but was joined at the furlong pole by Rosalba, who then went half a length up on him. Driving the French-trained colt by *Tudor Minstrel for all he was worth, George Moore slowly reduced the lead again, but Rosalba would not give in, and just held on to her advantage.

Second to the brilliant Petite Etoile in the 1000 Guineas and the winner of the Coronation Stakes at the Royal Meeting, Rosalba may possibly contest the Diadem Stakes at 6 furlongs before she retires to stud to be mated with Never Say Die. Bred by her owner, Mr. John Jacob Astor, a member of the well known American family, she is a daughter of *Court Martial out of Rose Coral, by Rockefeller. P. T. C.

KING RANCH WINS ARGENTINE DERBY

Mamboreta, (Gulf Stream-Margarita, by Full Sail), sold privately last year by his breeders to the King Ranch of Texas and Lexington, Ky., recently won the Gran Premio Nacional, Argentina's Derby, at Palermo, near Buenos Aires, by two lengths.

ANNOUNCER'S NIGHTMARE

There are lots of ways to make yourself unpopular around a race track. You can blast around the backstretch at 50 miles an hour in a hot rod with no muffler. Or you can turn up drunk when there is lots of work to do and half the stable help has just left with a draft of horses to race at Whoosis Downs. Or you can demand stalls for 30 unbroken two-year-olds because you happen to have a one half million dollar stake winner in your barn.

Well, Mr. Preston Madden has found a way which seems well calculated to make him unpopular with race track announcers, chart callers, typesetters, and bookies. He seems to have a thing about naming his animals with oriental or some such names. If he picked ones like One Bum Lung or Chou En Lai that would be fine, but he goes and picks the most unpronounceable oriental names you can imagine. Three of his animals are named Dhaulagiri, Maxinkuchee, and Ruwenzori. See what I mean? R. J. Clark

JOCKEY STARTED IN HORSE SHOWS

According to columnist Tom O'Reilly, the promising apprentice jockey Mike Kay a graduate of the Milton Hershey Industrial School with two years of pre-medical study at St. Joseph's College, Philadelphia, got his start riding show horses for Frank McKelvey of West Chester, Pa., who sent him down to Preston Burch at Mrs. Dodge Sloane's Brookmeade Farm, Upperville, Virginia. "His very first ride in a race was aboard Sword Dancer. Both of them were rather new at it and he beat one horse in a field of 11." Since that time he has ridden over 70 winners.

HURDLE TAKE-OFFS

Writing in "The Morning Telegraph" columnist Chuck Connors says: - "Jack Cooper of the steeplechase set introduced something new in yesterday's hurdle event. It is an experiment. It is a brush take-off, instead of the conventional pole take-off which was in use at Saratoga Springs and Belmont Park. The pole take-off is similar to a one-quarter circle, with light poles running lengthwise, and it is covered with light furze. The boys are of the opinion that the pole take-off has been responsible for the large number of tumbles this fall. The brush take-off will be used for the remainder of this meeting in an attempt to reduce mishaps."

BACK TO GARDEN STATE

All previous winning owners of the world's richest race have eligibles for the 1959 running of The Garden State here October 31. They are Cain Hoy (1953 with Turn-to), Mrs. John Galbreath (1954 with Summer Tan), Elmendorf (1955 with Prince John), Calumet (1956 with Barbizon), Claiborne (1957 with Nadir) and Meadow Stable (1958 with First Landing).

Cadillac

"Elegance" is the word that expresses it!

There are, to be sure, many ways to describe the superlative motor car pictured above. "Beauty", "majesty", "brilliance"—all apply, in their fullest meaning, to this new Cadillac. And yet, from this wonderful vocabulary, we have selected "elegance" as the word that most fully characterizes the Cadillac of 1960. The car's beautiful, clean-lined styling is certainly elegant beyond compare. Its new interior luxury provides a feeling of elegance that can be sensed nowhere else in the world of motor cars. And even its new performance—smooth, quiet and effortless—might be summarized as "elegance in motion". Once you have seen and driven it for yourself, we think you will agree that the word is "elegance"—and that the car is Cadillac! Your authorized Cadillac dealer suggests a visit, soon!

Millbrook Hounds' Tribute to Their Master

Saturday, October 3rd, the day of the opening meet of the Millbrook Hunt, seemed the answer to a foxhunter's prayer, for it proved to be a brilliant day to hounds - a rare thing for an opening meet. It was a genuine tribute to Fred Bontecou for the work done by him during his 27 years as M.F.H. of the Millbrook Hunt, when he spared neither time nor effort to develop the pack and improve the country.

Although only a few weeks had elapsed since his death, the opening meet and Hunt Breakfast were held as usual, for it was felt that he would have wanted it so. The day dawned as he would have chosen; damp, grey, and still, with enough moisture in the ground to promise good scenting. As he would have wished it, too, every man, woman, or child who had a horse or pony to carry them turned out, though with sorrow in their hearts. Sixty-three were counted in all, and each one knew that Fred would be saying, "Good luck - have a good day." And so it was - a top day.

The first covert was drawn blank, but the next (known as the Stick Heap) produced a stout running cub which raced down the woody hillside, across the stream at the bottom and out into the open, then made a wide loop through a cornfield and was marked to ground in the north end of the Stick Heap after a fast 19 minutes.

The second fox was found almost immediately in the same covert and turned west past Molly Leavitt's cheese house where the Poona was made. Scent was burning and for 21 minutes hounds flew in full cry, finally marking their fox to ground on the side of Half Moon Hill. It was later estimated they had covered about four miles.

Before reaching the next covert, hounds hit a line in an open field and were off again with a glorious burst of music. They roared over East Clay Hill and down the steep west side, crossed the road and poured into the big woods on West Clay Hill, where they again marked to ground in a ledge of rocks. This was the fastest burst of all, 12 minutes wide open. However, while hounds were milling around its ledge, the fox bolted out the lower end, and after about a hundred yards, was pulled down. The mask went to Tommy Johnson, the brush to Herbie Klotz, and the pads to Theo Stillman, Wendy Berol, Macy Pell Roeder and Coleman Donaldson.

After these awards had been made, it was agreed the day had been so good that hounds would head for the kennels, drawing a few coverts on the homeward route. These proved blank, so at the Turnpike, the field took their leave of Earl Chadwell, the huntsman, and his father, Elias Chadwell, first whipper-in, and Stanley Money, who had been whipping while Annie Wing was skiing in Chile. All who were hunting gave the staff their warm and enthusiastic thanks for such good sport, and considered the Millbrook Hunt fortunate to have such a father and son team as the Chadwells in the country. For the last 8 years Elias has been whipping while Earl was hunting hounds, and for the previous 23 years Elias himself was huntsman - quite a record!

In due course about 180 supporters of the Hunt appeared from various corners of the countryside for Breakfast at General and Mrs. Peabody's. Here Herman Place, the president of the Millbrook Hunt, paid a beautiful tribute to Fred Bontecou, reminding all those present that a debt of gratitude was owed him for his untiring efforts to give good sport over a long period of years. He added that it was because of these years of devotion that foxhunting in Millbrook has reached its present high level of excellence, and will continue to be carried on, as Fred had hoped. M.M.P.

Certainly the odd habits of the natives do give one pause; IS the whole community of Potomac utterly dedicated to chasing foxes, and DOES a recent arrival have to learn to "say something horsey" to communicate with the original inhabitants?

The truth about the matter of Potomac's foxhunting life, that seems to encompass all of us, is that it is a way of life that is taken only quasi-seriously before it starts and after it's over. But while it's taking place, Brother, it is the most serious business in the world, fortunately interspersed with a few light moments.

Our mad, happy, zany foxhunting friends may defy psychoanalysis, but the preservation of their occasionally bewildering sport has helped to make Potomac the carefully guarded retreat that we all enjoy today. Forgive them their quaint preoccupation with a sport that already was old when George Washington was a boy. In their anachronistic way, they are contributing living color to a landscape that is already beautiful to behold - but with foxhunters added, it becomes pricelessly endowed.

Yoicks! Tally-ho! Press on!

The cubbing season of 1959-60 has begun most auspiciously despite unseasonably hot weather. Foxes seem more plentiful, healthier than for many seasons, and are running well. Hunts of over an hour are not a rarity. Thursday, October 8th, however, was a day that will be hard to beat. Hounds met and moved off from Mr. & Mrs. Louis Neilson's in a dense fog. The Freeman woods south of the Neilson's house, Dr. Jenny's, Rubincam Hill, and Oscar Pierce's were all blank. Then, as hounds spoke in the German Pierce Woods going west toward the Laurels, two deer jumped up amongst them going east. Out of 23 1/2 couples only 7 couples bothered with the deer. Of these 6 couples were stopped fairly promptly and brought back to the body of the pack in the Laurels. The pack, now together, ran almost to Rose Hill, then doubled back to Dilworth's Hill, turned once more into the big Laurel Woods as far as the "Molly Field" and again turned eastward. The fog was now so dense as to seem almost impenetrable, but hounds pressed on to the cinder road at the German Pierce buildings. Here the fox turned sharp right handed to run thru' the buildings paralleling the road. Hounds overshot the line and lost a bit of time in a wide cast forward. But in a try back, hounds slowly feathered along the west side of the road until they were once more able to open in the McCreery little apple orchard. This was a beautiful piece of hound work and suddenly, as if to reward such persistency, the fog lifted. Painstakingly working out a now cold line, hounds puzzled their way past the George Hilton woods heading for Charlie Elvin's. Here cattle must have headed the fox for he turned back for the High Brow buildings. Scent seemed to change and hounds ran much better to reenter the Laurel Woods again. Once in the covert there was no time for hesitation. Hounds raced on, their cry mingling in a vibrating crescendo. Making one more big circle in the Laurel Woods and then several smaller, for he was getting tired, this game fox tried desperately to elude this equally game and relentless pack. Breaking cover at Dil-worth Hill what a glorious sight to see the fox toiling east past the Robert Meyers barn with hounds not too far behind. Their cry echoed back as they screamed up the bank. The fox was heading for his home earth on the McCreery Hill. Horses were blowing and hoped a breather would come. Unfortunately for hounds, fortunately for the fox, he just made his earth. Hounds could barely mark it as they lay panting at the entrance. What a pity only Mr. and Mrs. Louis Neilson, the Master and staff were left to enjoy this superb bit of hunting that was timed as 2 hours and 10 minutes. Sandon

Pittsford

Somber early morning skies finally gave way to sunshine to provide the first annual Pittsford Horse Show with a beautiful day. The event, which was sponsored by the Pittsford Masons, was the first to be held at the Roger Young Stables' new location just outside Pittsford, New York. The site is ideal for a show and boasts a brand new show ring, a fine hunt course visible from any point and a broad expanse of acreage which will accommodate a vast number of cars, trucks and people.

Exhibitors came from all over Western and Central New York and from Pennsylvania to compete in the nineteen hunter and jumper events. The Masons worked diligently to assure everyone a good time even to serving bacon and eggs from 8 A.M. on for the horsemen, grooms and early arrivals. Efficient ring management and an excellent jump crew provided by Roger Young's committee kept the show moving at a good pace.

Horses and riders alike seemed to respond to the fine weather and turned in many excellent performances to make it an exciting day for the spectators. Thirteen year old Sharon Geraci of Buffalo, New York, assured herself the working hunter championship by winning both the amateur working hunter class and the stake with her good jumping mare, Little Mystery. Then, this versatile pair turned to the jumper division to capture the Professional Horseman's Association class. This petite miss is one to watch as she shows riding ability and a sense of showmanship far beyond her years. The open jumper championship went to Music Man owned by Mrs. Jane Messler's Oak Ridge Farm with Adolph Mogavero in the saddle.

Miss Marcia Pierson of the home stable won the A.S.P.C.A. Horsemanship Event and was never out of the ribbons in any horsemanship class. She put the finishing touches on her day by winning the Junior Working Hunter Class with her horse, Handy Andy. Marcia is just one of the many fine junior riders we are fortunate to have in this area who help to maintain the high quality of our shows.

After the show, exhibitors were invited by Mr. & Mrs. Butler Cox and Mrs. Frederick Pierson to cocktails and a delicious buffet at the Cox home. It was a perfect end to a wonderful day and fine show. BLM

Quentin Riding Club

A newcomer apparently from outer space, aptly named Mr. Moon, swung into orbit at the Quentin Horse Show and amazed the horse-star gazers by nailing down the green jumper championship. The new star, a small, round, silvery Palomino, is owned by Mrs. Harry R. Gill, who acquired the 8-year-old gelding just 10 days before the show, and was obviously more than pleased with his quiet direct and clean performance. Mr. Moon won three of the five classes in the green division. He had eight clean rounds out of a total of 12, including two partial rounds credited as clean, as they were all that were needed to win the classes. He had but 15 1/2 faults through the show.

The green jumper division provided the over-all best performances of the show, inasmuch as at least five or six horses had clean rounds in every class, necessitating jump-offs. And to prove that many of them are "green" in name and experience only, the competition was so keen that jumps went to five feet in the knockdown and out.

Horse Shows

The working hunter division was the tightest of all, requiring a hackoff to determine the title Edgewood, owned by Mrs. Raymond C. Herbert, shown by Miss Jenepher McLean, hacked just a little bit better to gain the judges' nod over Wendy Wanamaker's Brave War. But perhaps the real star of the division was Miss McLean's own Monty D which she brought out of retirement and entered in just three classes. He won them all, including the stake, to place third in the division. The 12-year-old chestnut gelding is being readied to challenge all comers at Harrisburg.

In the green working hunter division - largest by far with up to 34 horses to a class - Kimberton Hills Farm's Kimberlady had it all her own sweet way. The sleek bay filly was very capably ridden by Miss Karen Myrin in most of the division classes.

Only one point separated the champion and reserve champion in the Conformation hunter division. Irl A. Daffin's Irish Warrior, ridden by Kenneth Winchell, took the top tricolor, while Col. and Mrs. S. C. Roecker's Capers, shown by Mrs. Gardner Hallman, was reserve. Winchell entered a protest in the first conformation class of the show, the open, in which Irish Warrior originally placed third and Capers first. Winchell claimed his horse was the only one to have a clean round. After deliberation the judges moved Irish Warrior up to first, dropping Capers to second and Leslie Wadsworth's Pincushion from second to third. Later in the show a protest was lodged against Winchell in the appointments class but it was later with drawn.

The open jumpers caused far more work for the carpentry department and jump crew than did the green jumpers, for there were very few clean rounds. The championship was in doubt until after the stake, as points were widely scattered, although Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gibbon's Bowie Gibbon had the lead as the class started, and maintained the leading position by placing second, to win the championship. Reserve champion was Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Mills' Navy Salute. The stake class was held in the wee hours of the morning, winding up the show at 2 a.m. so it was surprising they all did so well.

Labor Day morning - and well into the afternoon (as unscheduled), the young hopefuls held the spotlight in the beautiful Quentin oval. Famous little Pretty Penny, owned by Parnell Gore, was the under 13-hand winner, ridden by Chuckie Gore, who incidentally is now 15 years old and riding in adult hunter classes. The reserve title went to an equally famous pony, Johnny Cake, of Waverly Farms, ridden by Beaver Tate.

George Wade III, grandson of Pennsylvania State Senator George Wade, captured the over 13-hand championship riding Wade Farms' General Sherman. A hack-off was needed for reserve between Raymond Burr's Wishbone ridden by daughter Susan, and Jean Mosser's Stormy Weather, each of which won a class. We guess Susan wished hard enough, for she won the title.

Pony jumpers provided thrills and unfortunately a few spills, although no one got hurt very much, aside from tear-stained faces. In the under 13-hand category, Cathy Williams, riding Millarden Farms' Dennis-the-Menance, a cute-faced bay Welsh pony, and Mimi Cummin, riding Robby Spalding's Cloud Burst, both had faultless first rounds. Cathy won with but one fault on the jump-off. In the over 13-hand class, Janet Hanshaw and her Bold Traveler won easily with no faults, far ahead of the nearest competitor. It was in this class that all of the spills occurred.

Midnite Star, luminary of the lead-line set, again asserted his superiority at Quentin by taking the blue with owner Beth Wentz in the saddle. Seven-year-old Beth also exhibited her skill at horsemanship in the open pony roadster classes, in which she competed against adult drivers, one or two of whom were at least eight or nine times her age. ## The most expensive Thermal underwear made and WORTH IT!

NEW ALLEN-A INSULAIRE MADE WITH CRESLAN® ACRYLIC FIBER

- Extra warmth with less weight and bulk
- Creslan permits automatic wash and wear
- Will not shrink out of fit
- Exclusive Contour shoulder
- Extra long shirt tail — won't ride up
- Exclusive collar, high cut for protection
- Live rubber neck band prevents sagging, ever
- No Vent cuffs with double swiss rib fabric for snug fit.

It takes a lot to get Miller's this excited. We've searched for years for winter underwear that would give horsemen the warmth and comfort they must have without being bulky or rough on the skin. Our search was over when we saw these Creslan Insulaires — EXCLUSIVE WITH MILLER'S IN THE RIDING FIELD. When you wear your first pair of Insulaires we know you'll share our enthusiasm.

Allen-A Insulaires with Creslan has its own built-in comfort control — a waffle knit fabric that insulates against cold outdoors and adapts to room temperature indoors. Repeated launderings won't flatten the Creslan stabilized air cells.

In Cream color. Order now for all the family. Wear them for shooting, skating, skiing and all outdoor sports as well as riding.

The British Pony Team

The British Pony Team, which will compete against an American Team at the National Horse Show at Madison Square Garden in November, consists of 8 ponies and children divided into two groups - four 13 hands and under and four 14.2 hands and under. Only three of each group will actually enter the ring for the competition. The National Pony Society has announced the make-up of the team as follows: Not over 13 hands: Coed Coch Pryderi (rider Jane Bullen), Coed Coch Llewedrew (Angela Martin-Bird), Trefesgob Lagus (Gillian Blakeway), Pendock Porter (Susan Driver). Up to 14 hands 2 in: Royal Metal (Angela Dilks), Royal Show (Jenny Bullen), My Fair Lady (Jackie Standfield), Kavora Mr. Crisp (Gay Coates). Susan Orsich goes as reserve rider. Mrs. A. J. Sellar, a prime mover is organizing the event and in collecting the British team, writes as follows: - "The ages of the riders, who all happen to be girls, range from 11 to 15. They are all children who have ridden a lot in the show ring over here.

"Regarding ponies, all four in the small division happen to be pure bred Welsh ponies; in the 14.2 division they are cross-bred ponies, two by a Thoroughbred, one by an Arab and one by a pony sire.

"There is, of course, to be one judge from each country and a third judge from a completely independent country. They will be judged on quality and conformation, manners, way of going and suitability of the rider to the pony, and performance over fences, so it should be an interesting and attractive competition.

"In England Pony Classes are divided into four groups: - 1. Young stock, up to three years of age, shown in hand and judged on conformation, quality and way of going at a walk and trot. 2. The Ridden Show Pony which is not required to jump, divided into three classes, 12.2 h.h. and under, 13.2 h.h. and under and 14.2 h.h. and under, to be ridden by children of 12 and under, 14 and under and 16 and under respectively. These ponies are judged at a walk, trot and canter, and in the two bigger classes, gallop. An individual show should probably be given by the first eight to ten ponies brought in, and they are judged on conformation, quality, way of going and suitability for the child rider. Their individual show would probably have to comprise walking away from the line of ponies, an extended trot down the side of the ring in front of the judge, cantering a collected figure of eight with change of leg and possibly a gallop all round the ring, halt, rein back a few steps and stand still. The judge might require them to get off and remount. During this performance the children are expected to be entirely in control of the ponies and the ponies must be obedient and not hot-up. It really is left to the discretion of the judges whether the better quality pony giving not such a smooth show would be beaten by a not such good pony giving a better show. The ponies are ridden in a very much more collected way than in the classes I have seen in America. (I have been to Harrisburg, Madison Square and several other smaller shows in the States, but only one small show in Canada). The ponies would not be considered schooled if they were presented on a long rein and uncollected. 3. Children's Jumping Classes where neither conformation or style count at all. The winner is the pony that jumps over the biggest course with the least number of knock-down or time faults. The class is usually divided into 13.2 h.h. and under and 14.2 h.h. and under, both classes often jumping up to somewhere round five feet when the best ponies are competing.

4. Working Hunter Pony Class which are not universal, but are becoming more popular. These are judged on conformation, style and performance, over a less exacting and more natural course than that of the Show Jumpers proper. We have no outside courses in England. The ponies that compete for this class in England are seldom the top class Show Ponies, but more a Pony Club and Hunter type of pony.

"There are also quite a lot of One-Day Events for Pony Clubs which include Dressage, Cross-Country and Stadium Jumping. In none of these classes are the riders judged on equitation. Occasionally in a small show there is what is called The Best Rider Class, and at one of our important London shows, The Royal Richmond, they have a Best Rider Class also."

Western New York PHA

All divisions were very well filled in this second annual PHA show this year. This was particularly true of the Junior division as the children filled the ring to the brim. Fortunately the day was cloudy and cool and this was a happy break in a record breaking long hot dry spell. The ground was like concrete and it was remarkable to see the great number of fine performances. Most of the entries were from Rochester and Buffalo and all the championships came from these areas. ## Winchester Polo

On Sunday Sept. 13th the Winchester Country Club Polo Assn. who are undefeated on their home field in Winchester, Virginia, added another win to their record by trouncing the Farmington Hunt Club of Charlottesville, Va. by a score of 8 to 4. Winchester took the lead in the first period and maintained it throughout the game.

B.H. Winchester Charlottesville
1. S. Marshall T. Farrell
2. J. Hourahan W. Farrish
3. J. Cussen J. Day

Scoring - Winchester: Hourahan 4, Marshall 4. Charlottesville: Day 2, Farrish 2.

Friday night Sept. 18th the Winchester trio were guests of the Potomac Polo Club at their arena in Rockville, Maryland. This was a fast riding, hard hitting game with the score see-sawing first in the favor of one team and than the other. With a score of 9 to 9 and one minute left to play George DeFranceaux of Potomac made a spectacular goal from the sideboards to lead his team to victory with a final score of 10 to 9. Spectators were thrilled by the breathtaking off the wall playing and mid-air shots of Jim Hourahan of Winchester who was high scorer for the losers with 4 goals. B. H. Winchester Potomac
1. S. Marshall B. Sharpe & D. Moran
2. J. Hourahan G. DeFranceaux
3. J. Cussen J. Smokes

Scoring - Winchester: Hourahan 4, Marshall 2, Cussen 1, By Pony 2. Potomac: DeFranceaux 3, Sharpe 3, Moran 2, Smokes 2.

Potomac Wins Balding Tourney

Bill Phillips

Approximately 2000 fans turned out for the finals of the Balding Memorial Tournament co-sponsored by the Childrens Bureau of Delaware, Inc., for their Special Medical Fund and by local Alpha Ze Delta Sorority Alumnae clubs for their Welfare Work Fund, at Brandywine Field on Sept. 20.

Westtown, with a two-goal handicap from the 8-goal Potomac team, held the lead until midway through the third chukker when Frank Willson tied the count at 3-all and Col. Jack Shirley connected with a 40 yard backhander to split the up-rights in the closing minutes giving the Marylanders the edge.

In the second half the margin exceeded two goals only once when Lt. Col. Jim Spurrier's marker in the fifth brought the totals to 7-4, but the more experienced Potomac squad had the hitting edge and when the final bell sounded had captured the tourney finale, 7 to 5.

The Honorable Raymond E. Jones, Consul of England in Philadelphia, presented the Balding Cup to Captain, George Cole Toomey, along with individual trophies to members of the winning team.

The dual tournament is played annually in England and America for identical trophies that honor the late Gerald Balding, one of Great Britain's most outstanding poloists of the 1930's, who played with and against this country in the famed international matches of that decade.

Westtown Potomac
1. R. Jones G. Toomey
2. R. Connors F. Willson
3. J. Vincent J. Shirley
4. D. Calder T. Miller

Potomac 0 1 3 1 2 0 7
Westtown 2 1 0 1 0 1 5

Scoring: Potomac - Toomey 1, Spurrier 1, Willson 2, Shirley 2, Beer 1. Westtown - Jones 1, Connors 1, Vincent 1, by handi-cap 2.

Polo For Allied Veterans

The Annual polo game for the benefit of the Hospital Committee, Allied Veterans Council was played at Roy's Ranch near Detroit on September 27th.

This is the second annual game for this charity, and is the beginning of the annual fund raising for the Christmas party for the hospitalized veterans and their families in the four veterans hospitals in Eastern Michigan.

The opposing team playing in the charity polo game was the Birmingham Ramblers, captained by Mr. Rich Gibson, who is largely responsible for the interest in polo in this area, and new recruits annually.

The score was 6-5 in favor of the Allied Veterans All Stars. The players were: All Stars Ramblers

1. B. Levinson, Capt. R. Gibson, Capt.
2. G. Benjamin G. Brown
3. T. Young F. Levinson

Team Prospect

Dear Sir:

This is a short note to thank you for helping me sell my horse "Wait Awhile" through the classified ad section.

Mrs. Graham J. Graham bought him at the request of George Morris of the U. S. Jumping Team as a prospect for the team.

Wait Awhile, who is qualified with both the Millwood and Groton Hounds and who also won in many green classes this spring, was a difficult horse to give up. But, as he had to be sold, I can't imagine a better home or a situation where his education will be better furthered.

We were all very much impressed with George Morris and can be quite proud of the fact that such a fine gentleman is representing our country.

Thanks to you and The Chronicle once again for making this possible.

Sincerely,

Paul Cronin

timore's Sis to 11 points each and finally decided to concede the championship to Colonymas. Betty, a freshman at Converse College in Spartansburg, S. C., received special permission for time away from school to attend this show and the National Horse Show at Madison Square Garden, long before the school year started. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Arthur Reynolds, had no fears about her absence from the classroom, for Betty was valedictorian of her high school class last year.

Teen-agers in Virginia shows all year have been shooting for the finals of the Virginia Horse Shows Association equitation championship all season. After a 1 1/2 hour written test at 10 a. m. Sunday, the seven finalists - all girls - went through another long session in the ring. The eventual winner was Bobbie Gardner, riding her many-times-champion pony mare, Moonbeam, who incidentally is an alternate on the team representing the United States in a pony competition with England at the Garden. ## Aly Khan

Philip de Burgh-O'Brien

Aly Khan, inheritor of the racing empire founded by his father the late Aga Khan, is having a really fine season, with classic successes including victories in the 1,000 guineas and Oaks, with Petite Etoile and in the Arc de Triomphe with St. Crespin.

What is the future of this famous racing stud and string? We received some down-to-earth answers. Aly says that racing is a gamble - something we already knew - tempered by the skill of his racing and breeding staff of over 200 persons, in combatting the whims of nature. He knows all his colts and fillies are well-bred but will they win enough, and realize enough, to keep his vast business solvent?

Aly has no idea what racing is costing him, from week to week. This is left to his financial advisors. At a rough guess he says he has to take in over 100,000 pounds (say, $300,000) to cover yearly costs. There are 6,000 acres of farm land, five studs in Ireland and four in France, together with his racing stable at Chantilly, outside Paris, and another in Venezuela. He has six stallion syndicates, about 100 mares, 40 yearlings, including one or two Ribots, and 110 horses in training. Probably a figure of $500,000 yearly would come closer to cost of operations.

Aly's methods are different from those used by his father. The Aga Khan was mostly interested in bloodlines, and maintaining them, but Aly goes in more for balance and conformation, "marrying" the right types, indicated by racecourse performances. In these marriages he is indebted to the skill of Madame Vuiller, who has the brain behind the founding of the Aga Khan empire.

"Madame" Aly confesses, "reduces to a minimum the odds against the lottery of nature." He says, furthermore, but with less sublimity, "If you go on putting stayers to stayers you'll end up with something that stays so well it will stop right where it is."

Aly says he is just the commander-in-chief who must pick the right generals to work with. This is an important statement, for both he and his father have had luck or judgment, or both, in getting the best talent. Aly has made mistakes, but he has the happy knack of rectifying them and sometimes of profiting by them.

Annual conference are held in France where the opinions of his staff are solicited and often acted upon. Attending the gathering are Major Cyril Hall, manager of his Irish studs; George Moore, crack imported Australian jockey; Trainer Alex Head and a few others.

Some were openly sceptical when Aly Khan chose a man who is not much over 30 to be his conditioner. Here, Aly's judgment has been proven correct. Alex

Head, French by adoption, but English in blood, a few years ago was a champion jump jockey until his weight intervened. Then, he turned to training with a modest string, did brilliantly and shot quickly to the top. He is a brainy man who would have been equally successful in any other chosen profession. He has the fine hands of a surgeon.

Nowadays, Aly's work for the cause of Pakistan at UN in New York takes up much of his time. "I have to make speeches, an hour at a time," he says, and it takes me days to determine the right things to say. Take India: her propaganda is very active and must be met." He relates that he has over 1,000 appointments each year and the majority of them have nothing to do with racing. Aly would never consent, in his father's lifetime, to take on the post of ambassador extraordinary and permanent representative for Pakistan to the United Nations Assembly, but now feels it is his duty to do so.

Aly has not changed, too much, but with so many added responsibilities, and (as in Napoleon's case) age becoming a deterrent, he is not the ball of fire he once was. In a memory test Aly would to well; he knows every horse and mare in his establishments, as well as their pedigrees, performances and values.

Quite recently, on a flying visit to the Curragh, he looked over one yearling in his yard at Sheshoon. "That's St. Ange. He is by Ribot, resembles his sire and is worth every penny of 20,000 pounds this very minute."

One thing he still has in common with Frank Sinatra; he can throw a fast bean ball at any too questing newspaperman!

A very interesting character is Aly.

32 Aqueduct Chasing

brothers Smithwick sharing the duties of flight control officer, pilot and navigator, Prince Nam led the formation from take-off to landing with 10 cargo lengths to spare in front of the inaptly named Square Circle. The latter, racing for Barco Dumanian, ran a very creditable race and finished a length and a half in front of Hindrance and *Le Bluzard which were third and fourth in that order necks apart.

Marion Frankel's most recent jumping claim, Versus, received 23 lbs., from his stablemate, Sinn Feiner, also a claim from a steeplechase stable, and beat that one by 15 lengths in an allowance hurdle race on Tuesday, October 6th. In this test at a mile and seven furlongs, Negocio broke on top and led his field for almost a turn of the course. Bearing out when coming into the front side the second time, he gradually dropped out of it, while Real Fancy took over the pace making chore. Meanwhile, Joe Aitcheson had Versus under stout restraint until nearing the final hurdle on the far side. Challenging at this point, he swiftly overtook Real Fancy and widened on his field from there to the wire. Sinn Feiner, which had been well out of it most of the way, handled his weight well and made a late run, but was no match for the winner. A length and a half back of him Real Fancy was third with Clear Call a well distanced fourth.

Coming back on Friday in slightly less company, *Le Bluzard and Jimmy Walker scored a long overdue victory for Mrs. Clara Adams in a race designed for non-winners of $1,000 going a mile and seven eighths. His winning margin was only a length over Square Circle, which was ridden by John Cotter in this event, and which led all the way to the eighth jump where he was headed by the winner. Five lengths away, the M. G. Walsh trained entry of Rythmn Master and Nagging Kate fought it out for the minor purse awards after being in trouble several times in the running. The fourth week of the meeting was notable steeplechase wise, for the fact that not a single fall occurred, and in striking contrast to the fact that in each hurdle race during the first three weeks of the meeting, one or more falls resulted each day. The probable explanation lies in the fact that the pole type take-offs were removed at the end of the third week, and conventional brush take-offs were built in their place.

THE VIEW AT AQUEDUCT

There are a lot of fine things about New York's new Aqueduct race track. It's huge. It's new. It is close enough to New York so you get home before midnight (unless you go by subway). But the best thing about it is that everybody can see the races.

I walked all over the "lawn" in front of the grand stands (which is asphalt or cement or something like that but certainly not grass) and there isn't a single place from which you cannot see the horses run all the way around the track. The "lawn" slopes enough so everybody can see over the heads of those in front of him. The infield and tote board are both placed low enough so the horses don't disappear from sight going down the backstretch as they do at some tracks.

This is a delightful contrast to Belmont. Lovely, charming, and everything else Belmont no doubt is. But one thing it isn't and that is a place from which to watch the races from the "lawn." You can catch an occasional glimpse of the animals once in a while as they go down the back stretch, but from the time they go into the far turn until they pull up on the club house turn you might as well go have a beer. You just can't see a thing unless you are seven feet tall (in which case you ought to speak to the management of the N. Y. Knickerbockers - they need some tall people who can play basketball). If you do happen to be seven feet tall you might see the jocks' caps bobbing past you in the stretch, but not much more.

So, 3 cheers for Aqueduct's visibility.

passed the tiring Granny's Will to be 2nd, a length ahead of the latter. Running last throughout, J. G. Leiper, Jr.'s Blue Jack completed the order of finish. In scoring his 1st victory for owner Trout, the sophomore negotiated the route in 2:42.

Hunter Challenge Cup

Carrying a $1,000 purse, with a $500 assist from the United Hunts Racing Association, the Rose Tree Hunter Challenge Cup found a field of 5 contesting the 3-mile trip over 22 timber fences. With Miss Audrey Riker's Golden Fly declared, to be fresh for her engagement in the Monmouth County Hunt Cup, the favorite's mantle fell on the Happy Hill Farm's Thief. Although the 11-year-old gelding went well, he was no match for Mrs. Robert Curley's Melbroke, the winner by 7 lengths.

Taking the lead in the early stages, the eventual winner relinquished it to the Kelso Stable's Hunt Ball after 8 fences had been negotiated. The latter, under Eugene Weymouth, looked all over a winner until his rider broke a stirrup leather on landing over the 18th, causing horse and rider to part company. Following this mishap, Melbroke, under Charles Linton, forged to the front and led for the balance of the journey. Unable to cope with the winner, Thief managed to best E. H. (Tiger) Bennett's Pobejo for 3rd money by 2 lengths. The latter was also the only other contender to finish, as Mrs. A. J. Smithwick's Crag came down over the 15th fence with A. P. (Paddy) Smithwick. The popular rider sustained only a small cut on his forehead from the mishap.

Melbroke registered his 1st victory over obstacles in 6:22. It was a popular triumph as the owner, Mrs. Curley, is the daughter of the trainer, Joseph L. Aitcheson, Sr., who saddled Alfred H. Smith's great Grand Chal to win the 1957 and '58 renewals of the Rose Tree Hunter Challenge Cup.

As usual, the Rose Tree session started off with the Agricultural Stakes, an "about" 6-furlongs over the turf for local land owners. The non-sanctioned event attracted 8 starters and the judges called upon the camera supplied by the United Hunts to separate the 1st four horses. After viewing the picture, the officials awarded the race to C. D. Gilpin's Terraqueous, who was ridden by G. R. Gilpin, one of 3 brothers riding in the race. Dominick Dellosa's *Porthos 2nd was 2nd and 3rd money went to Henrik Scheel's Rock N' Rye. The winner was timed over the short course in 1:10.

ners. It was called the Daily Double Quintet at the Illinois track.

The first day the pool was divided four ways, with each winner getting $2,018. On the second day also, there was a four-way split (probably not the same four) worth $2,767.40 to each winner.

Single payoffs of $16,673.68, $13,744.52 and $12,722.80 followed. Then the track announced it was getting tired of the Quintet even though the patrons weren't.

Realizing the last day of the Quintet would be the final chance to gain financial independence, the crowd built up the biggest pool of the week-and-a-day test.

It grossed $24,036. There was a five-way tie and each skillful selector received $4,134.

In killing this salesman, which promised customers more than they ever were offered before by racing (though with less chance of collecting) the Hawthorne heads said that handling the selection cards took more time and men than they had anticipated.

Right after Hawthorne killed the Quintet, news came out that the New Hampshire Trotting and Breeding Association at Rockingham Park, had adopted what was termed "Pic Six" and was employing "automation" to handle the cards.

Lou Smith, at Rockingham, had set up IBM machines to do the work.

The salesman that died at Hawthorne may be resurrected at a later meeting.

Mr. Bob Carey, Hawthorne's managing director, hopped the first plane east when he heard about the business machine arrangement.

Mr. John Alessio, of Caliente, and Mr. George Morton Levy, Roosevelt Raceway, also are dropping in to have a look, Mr. Lou Smith of Rockingham says.

So, that promising salesman, the 5-10 Cinco y Seis, the Daily Double Quintet, the Pic Six, or whatever name he is known by, is likely to be working on all fronts by this time next season.

Many fortunes will be made.

C. MAHLON KLINE

We would like to correct the statement in an article in The Chronicle saying that Mr. C. Mahlon Kline had been the victim of a hold-up in London. Mr. Kline has had a recurrence of an old injury sustained in a hunting accident in 1937.

S. W. RICHARDSON

Sid W. Richardson, a bachelor who was said to be one of the world's richest men, died in his sleep on September 29th at his home on St. Joseph's Island in the Gulf of Mexico at the age of 68. In partnership with his fellow Texan, Clint Murchison, he owned the controlling interest in the Del Mar Racecourse in California. When the late Fred Browning died, he took over all the breeding stock on the latter's Crescent Farm. He also maintained a small racing stable trained by Bill Finnegan. B.B.

N. J. SLEEPING SICKNESS

Following the outbreak of sleeping sickness (equine encephalomyelitis) in southern New Jersey, the Fasig-Tipton Company has cancelled the yearling sales to be held at the Helix Stock Farm on the advice of the New Jersey Commissioner of Agriculture; New York has ruled that horses from New Jersey may be admitted if vaccinated in 1959 and if complying with certain other restrictions; West Virginia will not allow any horses to enter the state from New Jersey, while the Maryland Racing Commission welcomes New Jersey horses, even if not vaccinated.

DICK REEVES IN IRELAND

Richard Stone Reeves of Califon, N.J., recently returned from Ireland where he collected data for a portrait of the leading Irish 2-year-old filly Paddy's Sister, winner of the Gimcrack Stakes and the Champagne Stakes in Ireland. The filly is owned by Mrs. J. R. Mullion of the Ardenode Stud in County Kildare.

NAUTICAL'S PORTRAIT

Mrs. Whitney Stone, wife of the president of the U. S. Equestrian Team, Inc., has commissioned Jean Bowman of White Post, Va., to paint Hugh Wiley on his great dun jumper Nautical, generally considered to be the leading show jumper in the world at the present time. Mrs. Stone is presenting the picture to Mr. Wiley. It is planned to make prints of the picture which will be sold for the benefit of the U. S. Equestrian Team.

WICK JOHNSTON

R. W. P. (Wick) Johnston, has become a member of the editorial staff of "The Blood-Horse", replacing Dan M. Bowmar III, who has been elevated to head the cataloguing and statistical department. His wife is the former Laura Stone (Stonie) Walton, who turned from the show ring and hunting field to the breeding of Thoroughbreds in 1946. Last October 3rd, the winners of the first and second race at Hawthorne were Johnston products.

MRS. MOORE

Mrs. Edward S. Moore of Lexington, Ky., has been chosen as the recipient of the Ladies Sportsmanship Award by the Kentucky Thoroughbred Breeders Association. She maintains the Circle M Stud Farm.

SIR VELIUPILLAI COOMARASWANY

A recent guest of Max Gluck, former Ambassador of the United States to Ceylon, at the Aqueduct Track in New York, was His Excellency Sir Veliupillai Coomaraswamy, High Commissioner to Canada from Ceylon.

Horatio A. Luro, advisor to a tour of South American race tracks and stud farms by top American breeders.

LURO LEADS SOUTH AMERICAN HORSE TOUR

South American horsebreeding will receive a first hand inspection by American breeders during a tour now being formed at the invitation of the Horsebreeders Society of Chile.

Horatio A. Luro, Argentine-born trainer of outstanding Thoroughbreds both here and in South America, has been named advisor for the tour.

In 30 days the participants will visit every major race track in Argentina, Chile, Peru and Brazil. Side trips to stud farms will afford tour members an opportunity to study South American breeding methods that have produced such turf stars as *Ohlaverri, winner of the 1947 Santa Anita Handicap, and *Babu, conqueror of Sword Dancer in the Brooklyn Handicap this year.

The trip, named Cavalcade to South America, will begin November 12 from Miami via LAN Chile Airlines. American breeders will view races at San Rafael Race Track and Monterrico Raceway in Peru, Club Hípico and Hipódromo de Chile in Chile, Palermo Race Track in Argentina and Hipódromo da Gavea in Brazil.

The Cavalcade will visit stud farms in all four countries.

COOKIE'S CONTRIBUTION

A girl's debut is a once in a lifetime event. You can get married more than once, but once you've day-bewed, you've day-bewed, and that's all there is to it. And in greater contrast, a Horse Show is a once-a-week event, especially if you live in the Philadelphia area, and you can go, or not go, anytime you please.

But not so to Miss Wendy Wanamaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rodman Wanamaker, of Philadelphia, who held that Children's Day at the Delaware Horse show was just as important as her formal debut, scheduled for the same night.

Wendy, reportedly somewhat to the dismay of her mother, turned up bright and early for the horse show, despite the big social event for which most girls would have been in a dither all day. She went to work immediately placing in ribbons with her good horse, Brave War, then between a couple of classes she went back to town, had her hair done and returned to the show. When she finally HAD to leave Brave War was leading with 7 points in children's hunters, including a first in the Corinthian class. She had also won first in children's jumping horsemanship.

After she left, Miss Cookie Emlen, thirteen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Emlen, of Newville, Pa. who was riding her own horse, Goblin, took on the duties of riding Brave War. Then after a bit, Wendy's younger brother, Roddy, left, and Cookie added his pony, Cathy, to her string of mounts. Then Miss Leslie Wadsworth left, and young Miss Emlen proved what a "brave Cookie" she is by assuming the job of riding Leslie's splendid hunter, Pincushion, who is quite a lot of horse for a 13-year-old girl.

Cookie won another blue, handy hunters, with Brave War, thus giving the absent debutante's horse the children's hunter championship. Her own horse, Goblin, was reserve.

Then in the FEI in the evening, Cookie, riding Pincushion was one of six who had faultless first rounds. On the jump-off, she got into trouble, had a bad spill, but pluckily remounted and finished the course with 16 faults. She must have been a very tired girl, but the next day she said she didn't feel tired at all.

Meanwhile, as soon as the children's championship had been decided, Mrs. Emlen had taken the trophy to the debutante ball, where she presented it to Wendy in the receiving line. Roddy proposed a toast to Brave War, and Mr. Wanamaker to the Horse Show. The theme of the decorations at the party - horses.

It was somewhat of a triple celebration for young Miss Wanamaker, for she also celebrated her 17th birthday the day after her coming out party. M.L.S.

A.H.S.A. INSURANCE

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the American Horse Shows Association, during the Pan American Games, President Adrian van Sinderen reported that the liability insurance program initiated this year had met with approval and that over 30 shows had taken policies ranging from $25,000 to $300,000. He then presented a program of accident medical insurance to Recognized Shows, covering participants, show officials and show personnel, at a cost of 10¢ per entry, with a $25 minimum. On motion, the offering of this additional coverage was unanimously approved.

DEIDRE HANNA

The many friends of Deidre Hanna will be distressed to hear that she has a badly fractured left leg, the result of a fall suffered when a colt came down with her which she was galloping for trainer Burley Cocks. Miss Hanna is in the Chester County Hospital, West Chester, Pa.

GERMANY'S ORSINI WINS STOCKHOLM CUP

Germany's world renown race horse Orsini won Scandinavia's greatest racing event of the year at Stockholm, "The Stockholm Cup" last Sunday. This brings up his total winnings to 535 100.00 Mark (German currency).

Orsini is one of the most famous sons of Ticino, which also was raised and bred at the prominent racing stables Gestuet Erlenhof, at Bad Homburg. Only recently a statue was erected in honor of this great horse.

Orsini, German Derby winner 1958, was Germany's entry at the famous international Laurel Park, Maryland race in 1958. He placed 5th under Lester Piggott.

He will stand as stud at the Erlenhof Stables. M.P.J.

CLEVELAND BAYS IN PAKISTAN

Like almost every country in the world Pakistan has discovered the value of Cleveland Bay horses for grading up native stock. The Pakistan Director of Remounts pays the following tribute: "Cleveland has solved our problem of breeding President's Bodyguard horses out of cavalry type mares. We find Cleveland Bays excellent in improving the local breeds, especially in producing horses from 16 to 16.1 hands, with plenty of girth, reasonable saddle area, good temperament and good hocks".

BIG NEW OWNER

When they start talking about somebody's being a "big man" in this or that field, the person in question can be a "big man" all right and measure only five feet two in height.

Well, in racing, when we talk about "big men," we have big men.

For example, there's a new owner who is probably the biggest man in racing with only one horse in his stable. He is Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlin who just happens to be seven feet two inches high. He plays basketball for the Philadelphia Warriors. Recently he bought Spooky Cadet from Jumping Brook Farm. The new owner's colors are orange and black and Rodney Noel will train Spooky Cadet.

Now, just go ahead and top that seven-and-one-sixth-foot story. R. J. Clark

NEW HOPE FOR HEAVES

An entirely new grain mixture especially formulated as an aid in relieving heaves in horses... result of Wirthmore research in cooperation with Mrs. Barbara Montgomery. Ingredients have been selected to avoid inclusion of any to which horses afflicted with emphysema (heaves) have been found to be allergic. Extra vitamins and minerals have been added for concentrated nutritional value. For horses with heaves or allergic horses, New Hope Horse Feed should be mixed with water-soaked beet pulp. No hay or oats should be fed. Feeding studies show that it is excellent for putting on flesh and holding condition of all stable horses. Wirthmore New Hope Horse Feed can be fed right from the bag, mixed with water-soaked beet pulp or mixed with an equal part of oats... Available at your Wirthmore dealer's. Write Wirthmore Feeds, Inc., Waltham 54, Mass., for circular.
